

Lecture - Sep. 20, 2023

Getting with this new season of lectures and inside experiences, the quest for direction and life self purpose become an important question. The pace of life and the unraveling events going at neck breaking speed, animated by the ever faster social media communication channels. The sense of an overwhelming flow of informations exceed our capacity to analyze, categorize and draw definite conclusion. In term of each individual, we are simultaneously working into separate worlds. One is our personal consciousness and the other one working in parallel is the world of the unconscious. Parts of our personality works very hard to digest the events of our daily existence and also the one of our night dreams experiences and more so eventually the one of the true self that is inherent to everybody. The latter responds to us through the deep intuitive process to provide answers from the soul and is the great Director of our spiritual guidance. If not suppressed, the sense of loneliness in this world will be enlightened by deep personal occurrences that will push the walls of ignorance and provide responses to one of our important questions of our life as to find our way to the ultimate realization.
